Banking Committee Expected to Report Bill Out Thursday

(By The Associates: Gross

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. — A comprehensive agricultural credits program, based on the Capper bill passed by the senate, will be reported by the banking committee probably on Thursday and taken up for passage in the house Saturday, under plans disclosed today by Republican leaders.

The final drafting of the measure was begun today in the committee.

Representative Dowell, Republican, Iowa, presented to Chairman Towney of the majority com-conference, his petition for a party meeting for tomorrow night for the purpose of speeding up consideration of the legislation. Chairman Towner returned the petition explaining that it lacked the required number of signatures and stated that in any event he would not issue a call for tomorrow, for there was not sufficient time to notify all members.

Representative Dowell announced later that he had obtained the required number of signatures and would present the petition again to Mr. Towner with a request for a conference Friday night of the House.

Meantime the house today passed and sent to the senate another farm aid measure. It has the Strong bill, liberalizing the federal farm loan system by increasing from $10,000 to $15,000 the maximum of loans to individual borrowers with an additional provision for loans to the operating company. He endorsed the Capper bill, which would authorize the formation under federal charter of agricultural credit co-

Provisions Dangerous.
The treasury secretary declared the financial provisions of the Lenroot-Anderson bill to be "dangerous to the whole and its administrative provisions to be unworkable" but recommended that certain of its features be incorporated in the Capper bill. These included authority for the red-reserve banks. Mr. Mellon also endorsed the provision for repeal of the act authorizing progresive re-discount rates.

Outlining his preference for the Capper bill, Mr. Mellon said the Lenroot-Anderson measure attempted to create a separate and independent discount institution for agricultural products.

"Necessary as this will be a major step in all probability in creating a discount system

he wrote, "the agricultural interests probably demand that they be given the benefit of sound line the best and most adequate discount system which the country can furnish and that, in opinion, is the federal reserve system, liberalized and extended as proposed in the Capper

They Are Marvels of Beauty

—That is the remark of every one who has seen the new and lovely "spring 1923" patterns in imported and domestic woollens and worsteds which we are showing. They are wonderfully soft in texture and lustrous in finish, yet so firm in weave as to hold any form they are worked up into perfectly.

—They exclaim, "Marvels of Beauty," and they might well add "of utility" as well, and "remarkably reasonably priced."

WEATHER IN ARIZONA IS UNUSUALLY COLD

February Brings Coldest Weather in Arizona in Ten Year Period. According to S. W. Nichols.

The month of February has brought unusual weather conditions in Arizona, according to S. W. Nichols, who is now staying in Tombstone. The weather during February has been the coldest known in that region in ten years. Mr. Nichols writes the following letter to Journal readers:

Tombstone, Arizona
Feb. 14, 1923

Dear Journal: During February we have been having winter in earnest, the coldest weather in this region for ten years. One night ice nearly a quarter of an inch thick froze which was a decided curiosity in these parts.

The cold weather seems to have been a good thing for me. A few weeks after my arrival here I was visited with a severe bronchial cold which is epidemic in this part of the state. I was discouraged but the cold weather of February has been a tonic which has greatly reduced the cold which I hope will wholly disappear before my anticipated return which I trust will be at least in April if my native state, dear old Illinois, will kindly have some respectable weather for my purpose.

One fine morning singularly my appetite has been good enough to permit me to take a little exercise. I have been as well as needed and have slept well and since my arrival, October 21st, I have gained fourteen pounds in weight.

Altho the cold is strong, with few exceptions, we have several hours in the middle of the day when it is warm and the sun shines so that one can sit out of doors. Our altitude, nearly a mile, causes a quick drop in the temperature as soon as the sun goes down and some of the mountains about us are covered with snow which is quite picturesque and speaks well for the water supply next summer.

Stream of Tourists

Notwithstanding the winter weather the stream of cross country tourists continues. Some of them travel in dilapidated cars which one would hardly think could hang together but it seems as if a Ford can go almost anywhere with four wheels and an excuse for an engine. Many of the travelers are hard pressed and beg gas here to take them to Tucson. Occasionally too, things are missed and one night a garage was broken into and robbed of considerable property, undoubtedly the work of travelers. One day an aged tourist with his family, arrived in Bisbee and while there suddenly dropped dead. A heart time ago a remarkable outfit passed thru the place. It was occupied by a lady and her husband. The latter said he was a landscape artist painting scenery which especially pleased him as he went from place to place. He certainly was a pleasant gentleman whom it was a pleasure to meet. His outfit was a study indeed. It was a regular miniature house built mostly of beaver board and mounted on a Dodge chassis. It was wide enough for a bed which was across the structure in the rear while next to it was a clothes chest and opposite a complete housekeeping outfit, cupboard, stove and miniature sink, the whole thing as complete as one would well imagine. He said the material cost about $175. He told me his daily expenses for food, gas, oil and upkeep, in all amounted to two dollars a day. They were wholly independent and could put up anywhere for the night.

Mexican Turns Killer

This region has produced some remarkable characters and the story of them seems never to grow old. One of these was Joaquin Murieta, a young Mexican who came across, because fluent in the English language and proceeded to have a good time. He was yet but nineteen when he began his wonderful career. He was of a convivial turn of mind, a fine dancer, played the banjo and withal was a good one at the gaming table tho he was always fair as fair went those days. But one day he was missed and his days of dancing and conviviality were over. As he was riding along a trail he was met by a party of men one of whom recognized the horse the young man was riding as one that had been stolen from him. Horse stealing was the most unpardonable of crimes in those days and the offense was punished with death. The young man told his captors that he had borrowed the horse from his brother who had come honestly by it and they took him to the brother who assured them he had bought the animal of a stranger in good faith. Not accepting his word they strung him up without further delay and stripping the young rider they flogged him cruelly and let him go. He dug a grave and buried his brother's body and over the fresh earth made a solemn vow, first to get the men who had killed his brother and then to devote the rest of his life to killing Americans. He had persuaded Rosita, a handsome Mexican girl, daughter of a wealthy ranch owner, to run away with him and they began their career. Stealthily he hovered about the locality, seldom seen in the daytime but at night he got in his deadly work. One afternoon of the mob who ended his brother's life was found dead on a trail he had been traveling the night before. Some of the remainder employed body guards to accompany them but sometimes they would forget and go out alone never to return alive. Thus from fifteen to eighteen of the twenty paid for their lynching and then the young pair started for California and the tale of their adventures would fill a large book. Jesse James and Frank with the Younger boys were no match for him. He seemed to possess a charmed life and amazing powers of endurance and skill in evading his pursuers and had an Indian's sentiment of revenge which seemed gratified by killing any one not a Mexican. He had a beautiful, highly bred mare which could do anything but talk and to her fleetness and wonderful intelligence he owed many escapes. He associated with him a famous number of outlaw leaders each one of whom had a small company and all united with the young man, became his lieutenants and scattered death and destruction wherever they went. It was young Murieta's avowed purpose to make the whole California a smoking ruin and to that end he devoted his skill and energies. He had with him one man especially adept at disguises and who could conceal his identity, mingle in any kind of a company and get all desired information. The band robbed emigrant trains, burned cabins and spread death and destruction generally. Cattle and horses were stolen in numbers and with impunity. Finally it became evident that some superior intelligence was guiding the depredations and at last the name of Joaquin Murieta became known as the leader of his outlaws and a price was set on his head. Ten thousand dollars was the sum and posters were scattered thru the country advising people of the fact.

One day some men saw a stranger reading one of these and then take out his pencil and add something to it and ride away. When he was gone they saw added to the poster: "I will make it fifty thousand."

Joaquin Murieta.

Murders Officer

A Deputy sheriff named Clark caught two of Murieta's men and put an end to their existence and the leader swore vengeance. At a big fandango when dancing and hilarity were at their height Clark entered for the purpose of arresting a criminal. While in the place a fight took place and a man who had stabbed another was taken by Clark to a justice who fined him twelve dollars. The young fellow said he had the money at home and if Clark would go with him he would pay up. The officer agreed and on the way the culprit turned on him and saying he was Murieta stabbed him to the heart. It was a lesson to law enforcers to let Murieta's men alone. The whole story was told broadcast next day thru some mysterious sources. The murders grew so alarmingly that determined efforts were made to run down and exterminate the outlaws but the latter had spies and friends everywhere. One time a sheriff named Buchanan determined to take the gang and learning of their rendezvous started very secretly to overpower them. Their plan was betrayed to Murieta who and when the posse stole up to the place it was deserted and then from mysterious quarters bullets whizzed about them ending the lives of most of their number.

The sheriff himself encountered one of the outlaws and engaged in a pistol duel with him and managed to get away badly wounded and next day received word that his antagonist was Murieta whom it would be well to let alone.

One evening, in a big gambling hall a great many men were gathered playing the game all armed to the teeth while the proprietor had a loaded rifle handy. Playing went on and among the number a dandy young Mexican with a broad cloth serape and broad brimmed hat heavily bejeweled and looking fine.

He played with the men near him, winning and losing as the case might be. Finally a group of miners near him began to talk about Murieta, the prospects of capturing him and so on till one big fellow exclaimed: "Murieta! How I would like to set my eyes on him; I would shoot him as I would a rattlesnake."

Instantly the handsome young Mexican dandy leaped to the table on which were the cards and gold dust—used in gambling and throwing back his serape, disclosed a brace of pistols which he flourished and shouted:

"I am Murieta! Now shoot!" The crowd were dazed and no one moved. The young fellow descended and a passageway was made for him and he left the place unhurt and with his band departed that night.

One day a young deputy sheriff named Wilson gathered about him a crowd and called for volunteers to hunt down and exterminate Murieta and his gang. He told eloquently of the depredations committed, the many murders and roused his crowd to a high pitch of frenzy. Just then a young horseman rode up alongside Wilson, whispered a few words in his ear, what no one ever knew; then a sharp report of a pistol was heard, the officer fell mortally wounded and Murieta rode away unharmed.

Bullet Ends Career
One day a little schooner set out for San Francisco well laden with treasure and on board a crew and guards, five in all. Before it had gone very far a rowboat shot out from the willows near by, five men boarded the schooner, killed the occupants, near by, five men boarded the craft. The band was led by Murieta.

Raid after raid followed and murders were frightfully frequent until finally a determined ranger named Love gained knowledge of Murieta's whereabouts and descended on him as he was washing his favorite mare neither halter or bridle on the creature. One of his trusted lieutenants, Three Fingered Jack, was near by. Murieta sprang to the mare's back and was rapidly borne away to the brink of a precipice down which she leaped twenty feet, regained her feet, her master mounted and sped away. Three Fingered Jack was gathered in by the others and the rest hastened around the precipice, after Murieta. His horse was shot from under him and at last a bullet ended his remarkable career.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Losses arising from "fires, storms, shipwreck or other casualty or from theft," are deductible whether or not connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. If a dwelling or automobile is destroyed by fire he may deduct the loss for the year in which it occurred. Damages done to a home by direct action of a storm constitute a deductible item. Allowance must, of course, be made for any insurance received.

"The term 'other casualty' within the meaning of the revenue act means one arising through the action of a physical force of nature, for example, a flood or frost.

In case of a collision between a truck and an automobile used for pleasure or convenience, the owner of the truck may claim a deduction for damages, provided at the time of collision the truck was being used for business purposes. In such a case the amount expended by the owner of the truck for its repairs is deductible from his gross income not as a loss sustained from an "other casualty" but as an ordinary and necessary expense paid or incurred during the taxable year in the carrying on of a trade or business. The owner of the pleasure car, however, is not entitled to such deduction. His car was not being used for business, nor was the loss sustained by "other casualty" as defined above.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction and need not be incurred in trade or business. A loss for embezzlement is also deductible.

As a general rule, deductions for losses are allowed for the year in which sustained. In exceptional circumstances, however, and in order more clearly to reflect income, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue may permit a deduction for a loss other than that in which actually sustained. The taxpayer must account on his return for the loss in the period in which sustained. If he desires to deduct the loss as for another period he must attach to his returns request for consideration by the commissioner, together with a complete statement of the facts upon which the request is based.

NEIGHBORLY ADVICE

Freely Given by a Jacksonville Citizen.

When one has suffered tortures from a bad back and found relief from the aches and pains, that person's advice is of untold value to friends and neighbors. The following neighborly advice comes from a Jacksonville resident.

B. F. Allen, retired farmer, 852 N. Prairie St., says: "I had a bearing down pain through my back over my kidneys and when I stooped, a darting pain went through the small of my back. My kidneys acted too freely and the secretions contained sediment. I knew my kidneys were out of order so I began to use Doan's Kidney Pills. It didn't take Doan's long to fix my kidneys up in good shape and I was soon rid of the trouble. Since then I take Doan's whenever my kidneys get out of order and they always bring the same good results."

STATE POLICE BILL CAUSE OF HEATED DEBATES TUESDAY

E. Crabtree Spoke for State Bankers' Association

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 20.—Battles will take place in the general assembly during the next weeks, or possible days, over reappointment question and state police bills. The resignation of representative Elmer J. Jackenberg, Chicago, president of a committee of ten to a "fair and just plan for reappointment" was reported out of the judiciary committee of the house this afternoon with a tie of 18-18 over the question of reduction that such a plan proposed.

The senate heard a series of arguments lasting five hours on the proposed state police bill as introduced by Senator Dunlap, two weeks ago. The argument in a public hearing, and debate at times became personal between advocates and oppositors of the measure. The reappointment fight developed when downstate committee members opposed the Cook county members on the question of a favorable recommendation to authorize the committee appointment. This resulted in a vote of 10 favoring downstate members.

The Dunlap hearing heard John Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, vice president, secretary-treasurer of same organization and William Collins, organizer for the American Federation of Labor in New York, speaking against the bill while those favoring it included: E. C. Heidrick, president of the Illinois Manufacturers Association, Royal M. Allen, a representative of the Chicago automobile club, Mayor Crabtree of Springfield, who is chairman of committee of the Illinois bankers association interested in the bill, and C. W. Olsen, Chicago, director of a stock insurance company.

Gold had prevented riots in his opening remarks Senator Dunlap said that if the state had police patrol such as proposed in this bill, the Herrin mine riots would not have taken place. In reply to Senator Dunlap's remarks, and in opposing the bill, Walker said, "I have done all I could to prevent a riot, but I am not a very serious charge to take at this place, and I want a specific answer," Senator Glenn retorted.

"I believe that the attorney general of the state has made no effort to get the men responsible for the Herrin killing," Mr. Walker answered.

"The real leaders of the Herrin riot were not laboring men, either union or non-union," Senator Glenn told them.

"The main leader, or one of the leaders was a keeper of a house of prostitution, who had prostituted his own daughter."

Chairman Mills instructed speakers to adhere with the subject matter from the league.

ORGANIZATION OF REPUBLICANS IN HOUSE DEFERRED

Understanding Was Reached By Party Leaders Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Organization of the Republican majority of the new house will be deferred until just before the convening of the first session of the sixty-eighth congress, probably next December, under an understanding reached by party leaders.

It had been planned to have a conference of the Republican membership on February 28, to nominate a candidate for speaker and to elect a floor leader, whip and committee on committees, but opposition by western members causing a change in this program. No candidate has come forward in opposition to Speaker Gillette and his renomination by the party conference is forecast. Representatives Longworth of Ohio, and Graham, of Illinois, are the active candidates for the floor leadership.

Organization of the democratic minority also will be put over until just before the first session. The general belief is that Representative Garrett, of Tennessee, will be selected floor leader and Representative Oldfield of Arkansas, re-elected party whip. Mr. Garrett has been the acting leader since Representative Kitchen of North Carolina was taken ill two years ago.

WRIT OF MANDAMUS IS ISSUED AGAINST GOVERNOR SMALL

Seek to Prevent Building of Bloomington-Decatur Highway

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 20.—Forty-eight taxpayers of Clinton and Wapella and surrounding territory today filed in the Sangamon circuit court a petition for writ of mandamus against Governor Small, Frank Sheets, superintendent of highways, and Col. C. R. Miller, director of the department of public works and buildings seeking to prevent the construction of a hard road between Bloomington and Decatur along a route selected by the state. The petitioners maintain that the state erred in locating route No. 2 between Bloomington and Decatur, which misses Wapella by half a mile, and skirts the west limits of Clinton.

The route as selected would cost $200,000 more than a pavement over the Meridian highway going directly thru both towns, the petitioners asserted.

Judge E. S. Smith ordered the writ issued and returnable at 9 o'clock next Monday morning, when the case will be argued.

OFFICER AND NEGRO IN DEATH DUEL

Americus, Ga., Feb. 20.—Homer A. Lee, 60, lieutenant of Police and Dace Cross, a negro shot each other to death this afternoon. The lieutenant was delivering subpoenas and handed one to a negro woman, offering another to Cross, but the latter refused to take it, according to police information. Cross is said to have grasped the officer's pistol and then to have shot Lee in the arm. Lieutenant Lee had no other pistol and the two engaged in a duel.

Chairman Mills instructed speakers to adhere with the subject matter from the league.

Mayor Crabtree of Jacksonville said the bankers of the state had adopted resolutions approving the Dunlap bill as they believed it would prevent an increase in bank robberies in small towns, and decrease such crimes generally.

RUSSIA EXPORTING GRAIN WHILE MANY ARE GIVEN RELIEF

Foreign Agencies Furnish Food While Wheat is Shipped

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Russia is exporting grain despite the fact that millions of starving Russians are being fed by foreign relief agencies, James B. Walsh, formerly in the service of the American Relief administration declared today on his return from Russia.

The soviet authorities have started to ship more than 4,000 tons of grain from Petrograd and 35,000 tons are on order for spring and summer shipment, Mr. Walsh said he was informed in Russia. He declared he was told at Ruukki, Finland, that several thousand tons of grain passed thru that town from Russia monthly.

Mr. Walsh said that the only material accepted by the soviet in exchange so far as he could learn was print paper. Otherwise, he declared, payment was demanded in Finnish marks or American dollars.

PROMINENT MEN ARRESTED FOR SMOKING

(By The Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 20.—Three prominent Salt Lake City citizens were placed under arrest by deputy sheriffs in a downtown restaurant during the noon hour today and a fourth man later was named in a warrant charging violation of that section of the state anti-cigarette law which prohibits smoking in public places.

Ernest Bamberger, Republican national committeeman for Utah and unsuccessful Republican candidate for senator; Edgar Newhouse, official of the American Smelting & Refining company, and John C. Lynch, local capitalist, were the men arrested in the cafe. Later a warrant was issued for A. N. McKay, general manager of the Salt Lake Tribune.

Three of the men were released on their personal recognizance. McKay was notified by telephone that there was a warrant for him and he is expected to appear at the county court house tomorrow.

The arrests were made in compliance with the announced intention of new county peace officers to enforce to the letter the provisions of the anti-cigarette law.

Two negroes to hang at Belleville today.

The negroes were convicted of the murder of Alphonse De Hon, 21, a salesman, Oct. 19, last, while automobiling with his fiancée. Hollins is said to have confessed to a number of robberies and attacks on women.

Advocates of Shipping Measure Give Up Fight

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Republican managers in charge of the administration shipping bill capitulated soon after 11:30 o'clock tonight to obstructionists who had been waging a filibuster against the measure and on motion of Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, in charge of the bill, a recess was taken until 11 o'clock tomorrow.

Senator Reed was given a rest in the midst of his speech by a string of roll calls forced by the Democrats with motions of no quorum and to adjourn. Senators were routed from dinners and offices, some appearing in evening clothes. Musterings of a quorum was prevented by the obstructionists.

The longest speech was by Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, who had held the floor all during the day until after 6 o'clock tonight. He was followed by Senators Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, Democrat, Arkansas, and Reed.

FARMER PASSES TURNING POINT; PROSPERITY AHEAD

(By The Associated Press)
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20.—The farmer has passed the turning point and is headed for prosperity, Dr. David Friedman, president of the Michigan Agricultural college said today in his testimony before William Hunter, attorney-examiner for the interstate commerce commission which is investigating grain rates.

After saying that the agricultural still had a waiting period ahead, Dr. Friedman pointed out that agricultural production differs from industrial for in times of depression the farmer keeps on farming while industries cut production. This economic variance he explained was because industries have about 700,000 managers and more than 10,000,000 employees while of the 10-23 million farmers and farm employees about 63 million are either owners, managers or tenant farmers.

In conclusion Dr. Friedman read an index of prices on agricultural and non-agricultural products with 103 a 1921 per cent; for 1922 the figures showed agricultural products at 145 per cent and other products at 156.

POLITICIANS VOTE THE GRAVEST ONES

(By The Associated Press)
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 20.—Politicians in New York state vote the "gravest ones" according to a list made in a public hearing here tonight on the Dulp state police bill by William Collins, who is an organizer for the American Federation of Labor in that state and who spoke in opposition to the Dunlap measure.

TUTENKHAMUN'S LIFE ROMANCE IS ONE OF TANGLES

Wife was Daughter of His Half Brother, History Says

(By The Associated Press)
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Feb. 20.—The tangles in the threads of romance that run thru the background of Tutenkhamun, buried these 30 centuries in his tomb in the valley of the Kings, Egypt, were unfolded today by Dr. H. F. Lutz, Egyptologist of the University of California.

Dr. Lutz produced the marriage scarab of Amenhotep and Tili, which, he claims, is the only Amenhotep scarab in America.

"Woven in its hieroglyphics is the story of a great love of a Pharaoh of Egypt," said Dr. Tutenkhamun and to understand Tutenkhamun one must know the story of his father, King Amenhotep, and his love for Tili, whom he made queen of Egypt.

"Tili was not the mother of Tutenkhamun. Amenhotep, called the magnificent, had a harem like the kings before him, and Tutenkhamun was the son of one of his inferior wives. For Tili was his first wife, his queen, although she was a commoner, the daughter of a captain who probably led mercenary troops.

"Tuthekhamun married the third daughter of the son of Amenhotep and Tili. His life lines were thereby doubly intertwined with the fortunes of the king, his father, who dared to marry a commoner. Perhaps it makes the relationship a little clearer to say that Tuthekhamun married the daughter of his half brother. This half brother, Amenhotep the fourth, more often called Akenaton, thus became the father-in-law.

"Amenhotep waited until he became king and then married Tili and made her his first wife and no one could undo the marriage. At the time of the marriage Tili was a lady-in-waiting at the court."

The fruit of this union, according to Dr. Lutz, Akenaton, the father of Tuthekhamun's wife, was a half-mad genius known as an heretic king, who proclaimed one God instead of many. He had seven daughters and the third daughter became the wife of Tuthekhamun and he succeeded to the throne thru her.

"Tuthekhamun accepted the religious doctrine of one God while he was under the influence of Akenaton," said Dr. Lutz, "but later broke away from it. It was the custom of that period to have marriage scarabs made and the one now at the University of California is one of the few out of all that announced the wedding of this king to his love, Tili. He did not attempt to hide her identity. He inscribed on the scarab the name of her father and mother and these names proclaimed the fact that she is a commoner."

ATTITUDE OF STATE DEPARTMENT OUTLINED

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The attitude of the state department as to immunity of diplomatic missions from prohibition enforcement statutes as well as from other civil and criminal processes is outlined in a communication prepared by Secretary Hughes at the request of Secretary Mellon in connection with a house resolution calling for information as to amounts of liquor imported by embassies or legations. It is understood that Mr. Hughes takes the view that both under international law and by the specific provisions of the revised statutes diplomatic missions are wholly immune from interference with their goods and that no process may be laid against them under the prohibition enforcement statutes.

The communication was transmitted to Secretary Mellon today for his information in connection with prohibition enforcement measures.

CONFESSES TO MURDER ANOTHER CONVICTED FOR

Son of Wealthy Farmer Says That He Killed Policeman

(By The Associated Press)
WILMINGTON, O., Feb. 20.—Louis Vandervoort, son of a wealthy Jamestown former pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree today and Judge F. M. Clovenger immediately sentenced him to the Ohio penitentiary for life. Vandervoort admitted the killing of Special Officer Emory McCreight here Feb. 14, 1922, for whose death LeRoy McKinney of Cincinnati is serving a life term in the penitentiary.

Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 20.—Clarence LeRoy McKinney known as 51210 behind the gray walls of the Ohio penitentiary, dropped his tools in the looming mill today and hurried to Warden Thomas' office in answer to an imperative summons.

He found a reporter with the warden. "You're free," he was told, "the other fellow pleaded guilty." McKinney's face twitched slightly and he said without emotion, "Oh, am I."

Thus was ended a case which officials said had been almost without parallel in the criminal history of Ohio.

Five months ago McKinney, whose wife lives in Cincinnati, started to serve a life sentence for murder. A jury at Wilmington, Ohio, found him guilty of shooting to death Special Officer Emory McCreight February 14, 1922. McKinney asserted from the start that he was in a picture show in Cincinnati with his wife at the time McCreight was killed.

The case apparently was closed with the sending to prison of 29 year old McKinney. Then a few months later, Louis Vandervoort, of Jamestown, son of a wealthy farmer, was arrested on suspicion that he was responsible for many burglaries.

Today in Wilmington he pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in the second degree and admitted he killed McCreight. He was sentenced to the penitentiary for life. His accomplice, Walter Bangham, Jamestown, admitting manslaughter, received a one-to-twenty-year term in the Mansfield reformatory.

"McKinney," said Warden Thomas, "is the most philosophical man I have ever seen in my 13 years here."

"Sure," said McKinney, "we all have our troubles. I knew this would come out all right."

Warden Thomas said he would not release McKinney until necessary papers had been forwarded by Wilmington authorities.

COMPREHENSIVE CREDITS PROGRAMS TO BE REPORTED

Banking Committee Expected to Report Bill Out Thursday

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A comprehensive agricultural credits program, based on the Capper bill passed by the senate, will be reported by the banking committee probably on Thursday and taken up for passage in the house Saturday, under plans disclosed today by Republican leaders.

The final drafting of the measure was begun today in the committee.

Representative Dowell, Republican, Iowa, presented to Chairman Towner of the majority conference, his petition for a party meeting for tomorrow night for the purpose of speeding up consideration of the legislation. Chairman Towner returned the petition, explaining that it lacked the required number of signatures and that in any event he would not issue a call for tomorrow, for there was not sufficient time to notify all members.

Representative Dowell announced later that he had obtained the required number of signatures and would present the petition again to Mr. Towner with a request for a conference Friday night, if the credits legislation had not been reported by that time. He declared the farm bloc members would insist on a bill embodying the salient features of both the Capper bill and the Lenroot-Anderson measure, also passed by the senate.

Meantime the house today passed and sent to the senate another farm aid measure. It was the Strong bill, liberalizing the federal farm loan system by increasing from $10,000 to $16,000 the maximum of loans to individual borrowers with an additional provision for loans up to $25,000 in exceptional cases and subject to the approval of the federal farm loan board.

Secretary Mellon presented his views on the two measures in a letter sent today to Chamber Chairman McFadden of the banking company. He endorsed the Capper bill, which would authorize the formation under federal charter of agricultural credit corporations and make agricultural paper eligible for rediscount at federal reserve banks. Agricultural paper would be defined as the obligations of co-operative marketing associations.

Provisions Dangerous.

The treasury secretary declared the financial provisions of the Lenroot-Anderson bill to be "dangerous" on the whole and its administrative provisions to be unworkable but recommended that certain of its features be incorporated in the Capper bill. These included authority for the rediscount corporations to make loans direct to co-operative marketing associations on warehouse receipts security and the making of paper factors, based on agricultural products in their raw state, eligible for rediscount at federal reserve banks. Mr. Mellon also endorsed the provision for repeal of the amendment to the federal reserve act authorizing progressive rediscount rates.

Outlining his preference for the Capper bill, Mr. Mellon said the Lenroot-Anderson measure attempted to create a separate and independent rediscount system for agriculture.

"Necessarily this will be a secondary and in all probability an inadequate rediscount system," he wrote. "It seems to me that the agricultural interests can probably demand that they be given the benefit of sound lines of the best system which the country can furnish and that, in my opinion, is the federal reserve system, liberalized and extended as proposed in the Capper bill."

There are two reasons. First, the bill has been amended in a number of important details, and secondly, the public has come to understand that the protection is needed in the rural districts and that the purpose of the bill is to afford protection to all people alike.

There is a growing conviction that one of the greatest helps for the enforcement of prohibition will come when government officials and all others holding office absolutely obey the law. This was the view recently expressed by Edward Clifford, assistant secretary of the treasury, and the prophecy was also made that such a day will come.

Whatever may be our opinions of the wisdom or unwisdom of the French occupation of the Rhur, now that it is an accomplished fact it must succeed or the future of Europe is doomed. Such is the conviction of those who have studied recent conditions in Europe at first hand. The recuperation of France is absolutely dependent on the success of her Rhur adventure. If it fails, financial chaos will rule France, and the arrogance of Germany will increase to the point where she will refuse to pay another mark of reparations.

It is the opinion of the National Merchant Marine association that the passage of the pending ship aid bill is absolutely vital to win and hold adequate markets for products of our farms and factories and to guarantee national defense. Opponents of the bill think such an object is not worth the expenditure of about $30,000,000 a year, in spite of the fact that our present merchant marine policy is costing the taxpayers upwards of $50,000,000 a year.

Those who bemoan the alleged fact that the world is growing worse instead of better should meditate on this fact. The American Bible society this year will distribute 6,000,000 Bibles and based on records it is safe to say that other organizations will distribute 30,000,000 copies during the twelve months.

It is an undeniable fact that the demand for Bibles grows greater each year.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM

Facts of The Matter

By Berton Braley

I'm fond of music and fond of books,
I find a pleasure at times in art,
I'm fond of mountains and running brooks,
Or country meadow and city mart;
The world is throbbing from marge to marge
With human labor and love and gloe,
But take it honestly, by and large,
The thing that interests me—is Me!

YOU like to know how your neighbors fare,
Or how folks live in a foreign land,
And how men battle with want and care,
You seek to study and understand
The ways of others, and find in this
A wider knowledge, a broader view,
But in the final analysis,
The thing that interests you—is You!

WE may be humble, we may be meek,
Or egotistically inclined,
We may be selfish in what we seek,
Or seeking only to help our kind,
But Mr. Ego is still our boss,
And since undoubtedly this is thus,
With our confession we come across,
The thing that interests us—is Us!

TREES ON HIGHWAYS

Referring to the proposal to plant trees along the highways, L. H. Callaway of Chapin, writes as follows:

Chapin, Ill., Feb. 20.

Editor Journal:

If trees are too close to hard roads the tree roots will grow under the concrete and break it and elevate it, and thus ruin it. After rains, fogs, or heavy dews, if the sunlight is kept from the concrete by tree shade, the concrete will be slippery, causing automobiles to skid, possibly causing accidents that may hurt people.

Yours truly,

CALIFORNIA LEADS IN TREE PLANTING

Set Out Many Trees Along Roads—Days on Which Arbor Day Will be Observed in Various States.

WASHINGTON—(By A. P.)—The American Tree association's call to "celebrate the centennial of Arbor Day in 1923 fifty years before it happens by planting trees now" will be answered in thousands of places, the association's officials say, now that Arbor Days are at hand. The first states to begin planting will be Alabama and Texas in each of which Arbor Day comes on next Thursday (Feb. 22).

According to the association, which sends free tree planting instruction to anyone who asks for it, California is out to keep the lead in roadside planting and this spring will see many new miles of roads beautified with trees and shrubs. Arbor Day comes in that state on March 7. Minnesota and Michigan as well as Wisconsin plan to keep up their work of last year while a campaign for roadside planting has just been begun in Indiana.

To Georgia goes first place for a statewide educational campaign calling for tree planting, and "when that state gets under way look out" the association's statement adds. In Georgia the association in co-operation with Mrs. W. W. Stark of the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs is putting tree planting suggestions in the hands of every club head and school teacher.

George W. Guy of the co-operative education association of Richmond, Va., with 1,600 community leagues is working out plans for an Arbor week.

The Conservation and Recreation association of Chautauqua county at Dunkirk, N. Y., during the last year and a half has planted 9,000 spruce and Scotch pine on a tract the organization is reforesting.

New York to Set Out Trees.
In New York this spring thousands of trees will be set out by many towns. Orders to the New York state conservation commission have passed the two million mark for trees! Glens Falls take 300,000 trees; Utica 10,000; Oneonta 35,000; Malone 25,000 while Little Falls which has a municipal forest wants 100,000 more trees and the East Aurora Fish and Game club has entered an order for 100,000.

The Bankhead highway is to be made a great road of remembrance and the plan has been endorsed by the Southeastern Council of Federated Club Women. The plan calls for the planting of memorial trees for the men of the world war, proper placing of shrubs and flowers along the highway with a view to giving any other form of memorial the proper setting. This the American Tree association's statement says, is what is being done in Great Britain to a great extent.

Minnesota's forestry department plans to place 30,000 trees along her highways this year. In Indiana Charles C. Deam, the state forester has started a campaign for beautifying the 70,000 miles of highways in the Hoosier state.

California is the leading state in roadside tree planting, the association's data shows. In Tennessee thousands of memorial trees are being registered on the Tree association's roll. The best high school work reported is that of the Beesville, N. Y., high school which placed 1,000 white pines. The largest tree planting inspired by individual is credited to G. J. Boehland of Rockford, Ill., who gives away 13,000 trees this spring.

DOKAYS WIN GAME FROM SPRINGFIELD

Defeated All Americans By Score of 42 to 17—Visitors Are Outclassed.

The Dokays basketball team outclassed the All Americans of Springfield at David Prince gymnasium Tuesday evening, winning the contest in easy fashion by a score of 42 to 17.

The visitors never had a chance after the first few minutes of play as the Dokays jumped into the lead and held it thruout. The score at the end of the half was 21 to 7.

For the Dokays Struck capt. Wood who is laid up with a boil on his neck did some excellent work and promises to be a valuable addition to the Dokay squad. Kennedy also found his eye while Jones was the high point man for the locals. Smith and Laurence also scored for the Dokays.

The visitors scored only five field baskets in the contest. Burkhardt made thirteen of the All American points while the other four were scored by McCarthy.

ROUTT HIGH MEETS NEW BERLIN TONIGHT

Game Will Be Played at Liberty Hall—Visitors Defeated Routt in First Game of Season.

Routt high will meet this fast New Berlin high school team in Liberty hall this evening. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Routt met New Berlin in the first game of the season on the New Berlin floor and lost the game. The Routt men were somewhat handicapped by the small floor and hope to reverse the decision this evening. Since that game the local quintet has been going well and has won all of its games with the exception of a game with Virginia high in that city.

Last Friday night Routt defeated the fast Barry high school team. As Barry defeated Pittsfield and Pittsfield defeated Jacksonville high twice, the Routt tossers think they stand pretty well up among the teams of this section.

Coach Coonen has been working his squad hard the past few days in preparation for the game. The new combination used last Friday night worked well and probably will be started against the New Berlin five. Tickets for the game may be secured from students or at the high school. The team will be selected from the following players: Trahey, Norris, Galtens, McKavit, forwards; Norris or Murphy, center; Doyle, Gebert, Cleary, Kennedy, guards.

NORTHWESTERN WINS FROM INDIANA
Chicago, Feb. 20.—Northwestern University basketball team won from the University of Indiana, 30 to 26 tonight. The game was rough and fast and Indiana trailed thruout.

What you must have is real bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, and if you will eat it regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or so. Kellogg's Bran, with its natural bulk, sweeps, cleanses and purifies. It not only gives relief, it regulates the bowels. Every member of your family should eat it every day—at least two tablespoonfuls; in chronic cases as much as each meal.

Kellogg's Bran mixed with hot cereal, or cook it with hot cereal adding two tablespoonfuls of Bran to each person. Other popular ways are to sprinkle Kellogg's Bran on hot cold cereals or to eat it as a cereal with hot milk. You can make delicious bakery products with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is not only nationally sold in grocery stores, but can be had in individual packages in first class hotels and clubs. Ask for it in your restaurant. Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran daily for health's sake.

As previously indicated, the interior arrangement is to be somewhat changed and a mezzanine floor added, the purpose being to increase the space available for the bookkeeping department. HALF DAYS WORK TO MAIL LETTER

Vienna—In the good old days before the war one could buy postage and revenue stamps in any reasonable quantity in any one of the numberless "Kiosks" scattered throughout Vienna. Thus the busy public, accepting service and in the same small shops there were on sale the newspapers of the city and all the many brands of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco of the state tobacco monopoly. The profits gleaned by the keepers of the "Kiosks," often widows of army officers and civil servants, were sufficient to make life pleasant for them.

Today the profits have gone glimmering, and the sense of duty to the public which moved the "Kiosk" keepers in the days of the dual monarchy, is equally lacking. They will no longer bother with postage stamps, and as a result it is after half a day's work to mail a letter. There are but a few places in the city where postage stamps may now be bought. To get one often entails a long walk in the first place of angry and disgruntled men, women and children. People not frequently faint in the line.

FIRES IN MINES BURN FOR YEARS

SPRINGFIELD.—Fires burning for years in coal mines, deep beneath the ground, are one of the unsolved problems of coal mining in Illinois.

Many of these fires, walled up years ago, recently have caused trouble in Southern Illinois mines, according to Robert M. Medill, director of the state department of Mines and Minerals.

The Donk brothers' mine at Collinsville, the North Mine of the Illinois and Indiana Coal corporation at Witt, and several mines near Springfield have been compelled recently to seal up portions of their workings to prevent the spread of these smoldering furnaces, which burn without stooping in the hidden chambers underground. One mine was ordered closed entirely.

The fires start in the refuse which is left after the coal is dug and are caused by a process similar to spontaneous combustion, according to Mr. Medill. The miners call them "gob fires," from the word applied by coal diggers to the debris in the mine. They do not flare up in a flame, but burn slowly, smoldering away for years until they eat themselves out of fuel. Chambers where these fires start become a mass of live red coals and must be sealed up to keep the air from them.

The trouble is caused when a fire eats its way through a wall and threatens to break through into the mine workings. Sometimes the smoldering coals eat up the supporting coal pillars resulting in weakening the support for the ground above.

These fires cannot be extinguished by water, Mr. Medill stated. Water only makes them worse. It is the chemicalization resulting from the mixing of water and the refuse that causes the original combustion. The only way to stop the fires is to remove the burning coals from the mine. Many such fires may be seen on slack piles on the surface in this section of the state. These can be flooded with water and extinguished Mr. Medill stated.

BRITISH COMMERCE IN BRAZIL FORGING AHEAD

LONDON.—Great Britain is overhauling her American rivals in Brazil, according to E. Hambloch, British commercial secretary in that country, who has turned in a financial and economic report to the Board of Trade Journal.

Mr. Hambloch says: "The United States has been, and is still making a strong bid for Brazilian custom. The war years enabled her to establish a preponderant position as regards Brazil's import trade. But Great Britain has been slowly but surely overhauling her American commercial rivals, and the official statistics for the first quarter of 1922 show that Britain has once more occupied her original position as most important of Brazil's suppliers. Although official statistics are not available for a later period, there is every reason to believe that this position is being maintained.

The United States has been successful in securing year by year a renewal of tariff preference on various goods, and although the position of that nation is a favored one, inasmuch as it is the largest consumer of Brazil's principal product, coffee, there is no reason to suppose that these factors will be able to outweigh the solid advantages which Brazil's importers and merchants recognize are offered them in their dealings with Great Britain.

CO-EDUCATION TRIED IN JAPAN

Tokio.—Co-education is to be attempted in Japan by the Soto Shozakko, a primary school of Tokio directed by Dr. Sawayanagi, one of the foremost educators of the country. Fifteen boys and fifteen girls will be admitted to the new class and the director thinks that mentally and emotionally the best of educational results will be the outcome of this innovation. Japanese customs that are under the influence of Confucianism have been against any intercourse between boys and girls, either for educational or social purposes. That boys should be separated from girls at the age of seven a well known motto of Confucius, therefore this attempt at co-education is attracting much interest.

C. & A. ADDS MOVIES TO TRAIN SERVICE

Chicago & Alton Again Establishes World Record By Adding Moving Pictures to Service on Its Best Trains.

The Chicago & Alton in adding moving pictures to the service rendered on its best trains, has again established a world record. The Alton was the pioneer of the Pullman sleeper, the Pullman palace car and added various features of service as innovations which have since been adopted by all the great railroads of the country.

Railroad managers in their effort to relieve the tedium of travel have devised limited trains, library cars, sleepers, club cars, radio equipment and various other comforts, and now comes the movietorium car.

It was about a week ago that this new feature was inaugurated and a special party of railroad officials and newspaper men together with other passengers, enjoyed the first program. An international news reel was given, followed by "The Flame of Life," a great picture taken from the novel of Frances Hodgson Burnett, and with Priscilla Dean in the leading role.

The program on that first trip and on subsequent ones is under the direction of the Universal Film Pictures Corporation. With the allotment of attractions that is thus possible for the movietorium, the traveling public is assured services equal to that which may be seen in the finest picture theatres.

The Chicago & Alton has fitted out one of its splendid steel coaches for the movietorium and the experiment has proven so satisfactory that the movietorium may be accounted as an established feature of the Chicago & Alton service. Keeping up with its record, the Alton has again scored.

Several members of the delegation from this city attended the meeting of the boosters of the state police bill at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning to prepare for the hearing in the afternoon. However, the larger part of the delegation attended the conference with Governor Small concerning the Jacksonville-Taylorville project for a hard road. The governor took the matter under advisement and urged the delegates to influence their representatives in the general assembly to make possible the vote of the people on the $100,000,000 bond issue for more hard roads in Illinois.

"THE BUBBLE" PRESENTED AT THE GRAND LAST NIGHT

Edward Lockes three act comedy, "The Bubble," was given at the Grand Opera house Tuesday night, with a large audience present. The story of "The Bubble" centers around the operations of a very successful promoter of oil stocks, who attempts to fleece an admirable old couple out of their life savings. The story is told in a way which develops various ludicrous situations, and here are touches of pathos as well.

J. Moy Bennett was the star of the company and proved himself a capable actor. The supporting company was strong in spots. "The Bubble" came to Jacksonville as a Redpath bureau attraction.

MAN LOST LIFE IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Dispatches told recently of an unusual happening at Columbus, Ohio, where Dewey Henderson was killed when he was struck by a bit of flying rock. The remarkable fact about the accident was that the rock was hurled from the Scioto river four blocks away, where a huge blast was made for some improvement work.

D. C. Ditz, who formerly lived at Columbus, yesterday received a paper giving a lengthy account of the peculiar accident. Henderson played professional ball during the summer seasons and was employed at the Akron Rubber factory during the winter months.

CENTENARY REVIVAL CROWDS IN INTEREST

Special Series of Meetings Now in Full Progress at Centenary Church Are Largely Attended—Special Nights Planned For Next Week.

The revival services which began last Sunday at Centenary church are now in full swing and are becoming more and more enthusiastic each night. The meetings Sunday were characterized by splendid enthusiasm and an attendance which filled the lower floor of the auditorium. All formality is laid aside in these meetings, and the great congregation, led by Mr. Lind and the chorus of sixty voices sang the rousing songs and tender hymns in a most inspiring and enjoyable manner.

The evangelist, Mr. Fred E. Lind, has won the hearts of everyone by his modest, unassuming, yet forceful personality, no less than by his wonderful singing. Mr. Lind is a trained musician and his solos each night are rare treats. As a leader of the chorus and congregation, he is unexcelled. The music is made a very important feature of the meetings, and the interest in it is growing deeper and deeper with every service.

The pastor, Rev. C. D. Robertson, has preached each night so far, altho Mr. Lind is a preacher as well as a singer and will preach later on in the meeting. The inspiring music is a fit accompaniment and preparation for the strong sermons that Mr. Robertson is delivering. His theme last night was taken from Second Samuel, 17:16. Some of the points he made were:

The predicament in which King David was placed is suggestive of some spiritual and practical lessons which may be thus stated.

As the revolt of the king's son was the cause of his dangerous situation, so the bitter temptations come from one's own self. There is a line of demarcation between the worldly and the spiritual life which can be actually passed.

The tendency of most men is to linger at the ford, the sticking places, of life and so remain exposed to the dangers of such a position as that of the fugitive king.

Complete spiritual life is possible only by a wholehearted passing over.

The supreme need of every soul is that of immediate action toward a definite going over into the country of safety and peace.

The meetings will continue every night this week, and indefinitely after that. For next week a series of special nights is being arranged which will be announced from time to time.

GIVES MEAT DEMONSTRATION

Monday afternoon, thru the courtesy of the Wilmayer Market, a meat demonstration was given by Mr. C. E. Segner for the Household Science class of the Woman's College. This gives the students an excellent opportunity in connection with their study of foods to become familiar with the various cuts of meat to be found in the retail butcher shops.

The purpose of a demonstration of this kind is to give the students a knowledge of how and what to buy, but it is very difficult to get this kind of information.

Mr. Segner is well qualified to give such demonstrations as he was employed by the Government for a number of years as Inspector. He gave the class some valuable and helpful information and it is thru his courtesy that the demonstration was made possible.

CITY PLAN BODY TO MEET THIS EVENING

The members of the City Plan Commission of Jacksonville are to meet at dinner this evening at 6:15 o'clock at the Peacock Inn. The guest of honor at this meeting will be W. F. Hardy, managing editor of the Decatur Herald and chairman of the Decatur City Plan Commission, who will address the members of the local plan commission following the dinner tonight.

The real work of the Jacksonville City Plan Commission will be begun immediately after this meeting. INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 19.

While the word "depreciation" is not used in the revenue act of 1921, it provides that in computing net income there shall be allowed "a reasonable allowance" for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence. The deduction is confined to property actually used in trade or business. In general it applies to capital assets, the cost of which can not be deducted as an expense.

For example, a lawyer or physician is not permitted to write off as a current expense the cost of his professional library, but may deduct an allowance for its depreciation.

Deductions are not allowed for depreciation of a taxpayer's home, the furnishings therein, his personal effects, nor automobiles used chiefly for pleasure or convenience. Depreciation does not apply to inventories or stock in trade, nor to the value of land, whether improved or unimproved. Depreciation may be claimed on all business property, which includes not only buildings, but machinery of a permanent character, automobiles, farm tractors, mines and mill equipment, furniture and books.

The value to be cared for by depreciation is the cost of the property. However, in the case of property acquired prior to March 1, 1913, the deduction shall be computed upon its fair market price or value as of that date.

They Are Marvels of Beauty

—That is the remark of every one who has seen the new and lovely "spring 1923" patterns in imported and domestic woollens and worsteds which we are showing. They are wonderfully soft in texture and lustrous in finish, yet so firm in weave as to hold any form they are worked up into perfectly.

—They exclaim, "Marvels of Beauty!" and they might well add "of utility" as well, and "remarkably reasonably priced."

What Does It Mean To 'Have Your Block Ground'

The Crank Shaft Grinder is built on the order of a Lathe, with a live center on the tail stock.

The Shaft can be centered in chucks on head stock and tail stock in such a manner that the crank pin center is on a true center of rotation. This construction enables the operator to bring a grinding wheel surface in contact with the shaft surface and polish-cut the worn pin to a true round surface.

These are factory equipment machines and duplicate the original finish and trueness of the shaft. This work must also be done under favorable conditions by skilled mechanics.

The valves of the motor are the next important working parts. The Poppett Valve Motor carries valves made of Tungsten steel which must be ground accurately and have just the proper clearance in guide.

"Gifts That Last"

OLD JACKSONVILLE
ONE OF OUR BOYS

(BY ENSLEY MOORE)
Member Illinois State Historical Society

The year Abraham Lincoln was first elected President, and Richard Yates was chosen to be Lincoln's great supporter as Governor of Illinois.

A Baby Boy was born in this town, in December of that year.

He was a pretty and bright little fellow, as he had a right to be by reason of his parentage.

The little child had not become old enough to know much about things, less than a year later, when the family went to a neighboring town to make their home at least temporarily. There the child grew apace, in the midst of exciting times of War and did not realize why he was living in so large a residence; larger than any then in Jacksonville, but time passed fast, and in 1865 the family came back here to their own handsome house, and the little boy was bright and pretty, clothed handsomely and awake to what small boys enjoy with Charlie and Henry and Taber and other neighbors.

Then our boy was admitted to a primary department for youngsters at the "Methodist College," and got into other schools in due time; finally Going to Illinois College where he joined Sigma Pi Society, and became its president, with fellow members since of wide fame. He was good to the College, and the College was good to him, and it graduated him, and gave him honors as the years went by, one as a Trustee, that of the degree of L. L. D., coming along with the same from other colleges. And our graduate at 20 years of age, went to Michigan University to become a lawyer, which he did together with study in a local office, and there he was made City Attorney several times—meantime having had newspaper experience to help gain his professional education. He was always active and alert, prominent in church and Sunday school and member of many fraternal bodies. So it was not surprising that he was elected Judge of his native county—old Morgan—which in her Centennial year is not ashamed of her noted and successful offspring.

Then the keen eye of President McKinley recognized the worth and name of our Judge, and made him Federal collector of this district, one of the most important in the country. There were other eyes watching the Collector of Internal Revenue, and his native state called our young friend, at forty years of age to be Governor of Illinois.

He went in 1900 to "the mansion" in Springfield, and well filled that chair of state. Meantime making a visit to Europe, with his pretty wife.

The gubernatorial term having expired the Jacksonville boy retired to the practice of his profession there, but was called to several state positions of honor and emolument.

The state, however, knew and honored his name so well that it soon called upon the former Governor to represent her again and again and again as one of her representatives in Congress.

So, today, this Jacksonville man sits among the national lawgivers in the City of Washington; but his heart ever goes back in its fullness of love and admiration to the town and college and people which gave him birth and education and office and honor and love.

Team Work in the Standard Oil Company
(Indiana)

"Paying for needless strikes is an item in the cost of living that conceivably might be reduced."

When all is said, strikes are but the symptoms of an industrial disease, which is not eradicated when the strike is settled. If those engaged in the conduct of a business, whether they be employer or employee, will approach a controverted point in a spirit of justice, the differences can be adjusted satisfactorily and the strike made an unnecessary extravagance.

The record of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a record of industrial peace. Employees of the organization always have had ample opportunity for bringing their grievances to the attention of the management, and during the past few years ways have been provided whereby these complaints can be adjusted with promptness and finality. This is called the Department of Industrial Relations.

Its function is to substitute evolution for revolution; to avert discontent; to prevent conditions which give rise to disorder and strikes.

Since inaugurating this Department of Industrial Relations we have had little or no labor troubles and these have been adjusted as soon as the facts could be set forth, and opportunity given to demonstrate the justice of each side to the controversy.

Team work is the fundamental base upon which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) efficiency is built. To calculate the value of this efficiency in terms of money one has but to figure the cost of disorganization, discomfort, and expense which the people in the Middle Western States have suffered through industrial strife. As petroleum products enter into every phase of life to an extent which appears incredible to the laity, uncertainty or scarcity in the supplying of these products would affect the daily life of the individual definitely, unfavorably, disastrously.

Both the management and the employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) recognize teamwork as a definite necessary part of this organization. The army of employees under sound leadership are working toward the ideal where adjustments will be made automatically, because justice and equity will rule to the profit of the employee, employer, and the public at large.

C. E. Metzger Explains Membership Campaign — Executive Committee Votes to Adopt It.

G. E. Metzger, of the organization department of the Illinois Agricultural Association was in the city yesterday and met with the executive committee of the Morgan County Farm Bureau for the purpose of explaining the organization of the joint membership campaign. This is a plan now carried on by the I. A. A. and includes the securing of members jointly in the state association and in the local Farm Bureau.

The executive committee voted unanimously to adopt the plan as explained by Mr. Metzger and also decided to secure from the I. A. A. a campaign manager to conduct a membership campaign in this county. It is probable that the manager who will come to Morgan county for the drive will be A. B. Culp of Eureka, Woodford County and he will begin his work on March 1st.

The work of the campaign manager will be to conduct community meetings thru out the county and thus arouse enthusiasm in the work of the farm bureau. Moving pictures will be shown at these meetings and all the districts and communities in the county will have a gathering within the next few weeks. The actual work of canvassing for new members will be done by local men. A school of instruction for these men who will canvass for memberships, will be held on March 27th. These workers will be instructed at this time and the actual work of securing members for the Farm Bureau and the I. A. A. will be accomplished in one day.

A prize of $40 will be offered jointly by the I. A. A. and the Morgan County Farm Bureau for the best essay written by a school boy or girl in the county on the subject, "Why Dad Should Belong to the Farm Bureau." According to the plan of this membership drive there will be no campaigning done at any of the community meetings held under the direction of the campaign manager.

"Reports coming in at the St. Louis Branch show rather surprising sales of Ford cars and indications are that a shortage will come by early spring."

"The production schedule set for the Ford Motor Company's plant at Detroit for 1923 is 6,000 cars a day, but this schedule will not be reached until about April 1st."

"Sales now are running more than 100,000 a month, and have been since last April, in fact, and at present absorption is about neck and neck with production."

"There is no question but what the prospective purchaser of a Ford car will act wisely if he places his order immediately. Then he will be assured of having his car when he wants it and will not have to wait."

PRICES FOR CASH WHEAT EASIER

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Prices for cash wheat were easier but premiums and discounts on winter grades advanced. Contract red 1@2c higher with lower grades 2@3c better. Hard and yellow hard were 1@1c better for contract grades with off grades 1 to 4c better. Shipping sales were 30,000 bushels with millers the best buyers. There was no export business reported. Demand for corn was only fair with two leading buyers out of the market. Prices were 1c@1c easier with the trading basis firm on mixed grades and unchanged to 1c lower for yellow and white grades. Cash sales were 100,000 bushels. There were no indications of any export business. Oats closed 1c lower and trading basis were unchanged to 1c easier. Cash sales were 60,000 bushels. Sales of 125,000 bushels were made to go to store. Cars inspected: Wheat, 21; Corn, 375; Oats, 65.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Sellers had the advantage in the wheat market the greater part of the day owing largely to a statement issued by a conspicuous authority that the world's probably carry-over July 1 would equal the previous average. Offerings became scarce during the last part of the market rallied. Closing prices were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1c lower, May $1.20 1/2 to $1.20 1/4 and July $1.15 1/2 to $1.15 1/4. Corn closed at a shade net decline to 1@1c advance; oats off a shade to 1@1c and provisions showing a gain of 2 to 7c.

According to the statement dealing with the predicted big carry over of wheat the United States and Canada are piling up supplies and maintaining prices when stocks should be rapidly decreasing. Meanwhile, European needs, reduced to a minimum by disorder and financial distress are being met by the European potato crop, the statement says and by wheat bought concessionary prices from Argentina and Australia. With world takings much less than had been expected the July carry over was estimated at 225,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels practically the same as when Russia was contributing to the world supply.

Renewal of eastern selling a further depressing effect on wheat values in the first half of the day and so did better weather for winter wheat. As on numerous occasions of late however, declines encountered stubborn resistance when the market touched $1.19 for May delivery. Then with the volume of selling diminished throughout the remainder of the day the market reacted helped by upturns in sterling exchange rates off-setting lower quotations on wheat at Liverpool.

Scarcity of rail offerings kept corn and oat relatively firm. Provisions effected strength in hog values.

Market Report

ADVANTAGE TO SELLERS IN WHEAT MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Sellers had the advantage in the wheat market the greater part of the day owing largely to a statement issued by a conspicuous authority that the world's probably carry-over July 1 would equal the previous average. Offerings became scarce during the last part of the market rallied. Closing prices were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1c lower, May $1.20 1/2 to $1.20 1/4 and July $1.15 1/2 to $1.15 1/4. Corn closed at a shade net decline to 1@1c advance; oats off a shade to 1@1c and provisions showing a gain of 2 to 7c.

According to the statement dealing with the predicted big carry over of wheat the United States and Canada are piling up supplies and maintaining prices when stocks should be rapidly decreasing. Meanwhile, European needs, reduced to a minimum by disorder and financial distress are being met by the European potato crop, the statement says and by wheat bought concessionary prices from Argentina and Australia. With world takings much less than had been expected the July carry over was estimated at 225,000,000 to 250,000,000 bushels practically the same as when Russia was contributing to the world supply.

Renewal of eastern selling a further depressing effect on wheat values in the first half of the day and so did better weather for winter wheat. As on numerous occasions of late however, declines encountered stubborn resistance when the market touched $1.19 for May delivery. Then with the volume of selling diminished throughout the remainder of the day the market reacted helped by upturns in sterling exchange rates off-setting lower quotations on wheat at Liverpool.

Scarcity of rail offerings kept corn and oat relatively firm. Provisions effected strength in hog values.

CITY VEHICLE TAX COLLECTIONS GOOD

The local police department reports good success in the collection of the vehicle tax for the city. Thus far two hundred and seventy citizens have paid their tax, and not a single notice has been sent out from headquarters. There are 1,500 or more numbers to be issued showing that tax has been paid on the cars or trucks to which they are attached. The 207th number was given out Tuesday afternoon.

The police department would appreciate the prompt payment of the wheel tax, and it is hoped that not a single tax notice will have to be sent to the citizens. It costs five or six cents to send a notice and license plate to owners of cars, and if this cost of collections can be kept down to the minimum, almost the entire wheel tax fund can be applied on the city streets.

WITCHED WELL HAS ABUNDANT SUPPLY

Altho it is very dry in the Alexander neighborhood and people in that vicinity are obliged to haul water, William Vraker, who resides north of that place, is in luck. He has dug a well eleven feet deep, and there is now water in the well to a depth of nine feet. The water is reported as clear and good to drink.

It is said that Chris. Dalman discovered the water by means of a witching stick, and others in the neighborhood "witched" wells which are very successful. One man reports five and one half feet of water in a 23 foot well.

WHITE HALL BAKERY DAMAGED BY FIRE

White Hall, Feb. 20.—Fire at noon Monday gave the local fire department a hard tussle before the Frost bakery on East Sherman street, adjoining the city hall on the west. The fire is believed to have originated from a gasoline stove. The perishable contents were removed, and there is small loss to G. M. Frost. The roof of the building has considerable damage because of the chemical apparatus not being in working order and the nearest fire hydrant being found frozen after connection had been made.

This has served to remove a common impression that the fire apparatus is, always kept in first class condition, which condition applies only to fair weather. The building is owned by Miss Gertrude Simonds, and is insured. Mr. Frost carried no insurance. The total loss will be about $500.00.
